

General Assembly Underway On Note Of Harmony

HARRISBURG, Jan. 1 (P)—Pennsylvania's General Assembly opened its 1957 session today on a note of harmony—at least on the first day.

Democratic Gov. Leader proposed a "Let's work together" policy to Republicans to avoid another long deadlock such as the 1955-56 session. The Republicans agreed—but with qualifications.

The Governor laid down a broad program of expanding state services but withheld recommendations for financing them until he submits the state's budget, probably early in February.

Question

Republicans, who control both houses, immediately asked: Where's the money coming from to finance the program?

Sen. Rowland B. Mahany (Crawford) Republican floor leader, termed it "ambitious and costly." Along the same line, Rep. Albert W. Johnson (McKean) GOP leader in the House, described it as "a colossal spending program."

"We must learn to work together in these next months," the governor told a joint session of the House and Senate in his state of the commonwealth message, adding:

"None of us can be anxious to repeat a 17-month legislative session."

George I. Bloom, Republican State Chairman, noting the conciliatory tone of the governor's message, summed up the GOP position:

"We are ready to work with him. However, we will not break the public trust by agreeing to any unfair or discriminatory forms of taxation."

Mahany, commented along the same lines:

"I pledge that I and all other Republican legislators will be happy to work with the governor for anything beneficial to our state."

The lawmakers opened the 142d session of the Legislature amid traditional pomp and ceremony.

As required by the constitution, the Assembly convened at noon, despite the holiday, since the first Tuesday in January this year fell on New Year's Day.

After opening day formalities and hearing the Governor's message both branches adjourned until next Monday when committees will be named.

Speaker W. Stuart Helm (Armstrong) was installed as speaker of the House, succeeding Democratic Speaker H. G. Andrews. In the Senate, Sen. M. Harvey Taylor (Dauphin) started another term as president pro tempore.

Mahany said Leader's message was "diametric contrast to his scolding inaugural speech."

Rep. Johnson also noted the conciliatory tone of the message and said, "If that spirit prevails we should have a short session."

Leader's recommendations to the Legislature covered a wide field, ranging from an amendment to the state constitution permitting the governor to succeed himself to legislation for equal pay for women for work equal to that done by men.

Dissatisfied

The governor told the Legislature that he was dissatisfied with collections from the sales tax which have fallen below estimates and that measures have been taken to increase them.

Turning to the mental health

picture in Pennsylvania, Leader said:

Leader hinted that revenue from the commonwealth's motor fund might be insufficient "to take full advantage" of the new federal interstate highway program.

However, he did not mention any possible gasoline tax increases he might be considering to offset the shortage.

He recommended the state constitution be amended to permit a governor to succeed himself. This change would not affect Leader, however.

Other constitutional changes he mentioned would: Permit absentees voting and a 150 million dollar bond issue for Korean war veterans; permit local school districts to issue bonds with a new and higher ratio of debt to assessed property valuations.

First Time

Turning to the mental health

picture in Pennsylvania, Leader said:

"For the first time in history, we are actually reducing the number of patients in our 17 mental hospitals."

Aiming at investigations, the governor reviewed the investigation of the Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge Commission and the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission.

He urged the Legislature to tighten the administration code requiring competitive bidding of contracts and purchases by state agencies to include the Turnpike Commission "and any other state agencies and authorities that are now, mistakenly, outside the requirements of this law."

The lineup in the Senate is 27 Republicans and 23 Democrats. There are 126 Republicans in the House and 83 Democrats, with one vacancy caused by the death of Rep.-Elect John R. Quigg (R-Montour).

Speaker Helm said he would call a special election to fill that leaders desire it.

Leader Reaffirms Shortway Support

GOV. GEORGE M. LEADER yesterday reaffirmed his administration's support of the Keystone Shortway, a free superhighway that would be built between Stroudsburg and Sharon.

In his annual message to the General Assembly, the Governor said "Our first obligation is to take full advantage in Pennsylvania's interest of the enlarged federal highway program. That will be done, if the revenues of our motor license fund are kept adequate for our requirements.

"We must not prent the great opportunities opened to us under the federal program to be lost by inadequate financing, avoidable delays and internal wrangles within our state."

"This program is not a sectional as a political park-barrel. It is our duty to carry out the intent of Congress and construct our part of an interstate system of (free) highways designed to carry the crushing load of tomorrow's traffic."

"Our planning calls for the construction of a new interstate highway across the spine of the state from Sharon to Stroudsburg, for the improvement of Route Six across the northern tier as a part of the primary highway system, for an interstate highway from Lake Erie to the West Virginia border, and for the solution of the major highway problems of metropolitan Pittsburgh and Philadelphia."

Eisenhower made this personal plea to 29 Democratic and Republican congressional leaders during a four-hour White House conference on foreign policy problems.

The White House said in an announcement afterward that an early presidential message to Congress would detail a request for new legislation aimed at checking any Communist designs on Middle Eastern nations.

Some congressmen said they understood Eisenhower would go personally before Congress within the next five or six days to urge approval of an emergency resolution. The White House, however, said this had not yet been decided.

Conferees said no final decision

appeared to have been reached

by Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles on the exact form of the measure they will propose to Congress.

Requirement

Extend requirement for competitive bidding on contracts and purchases to the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission and any other state agency now outside the administrative code.

An amendment to the state constitution permitting the Governor to succeed himself.

Revision of the present law spelling out procedure for taking of rights-of-way for new highways.

A scholarship program in Pennsylvania engineering schools to train state highway engineers.

A highway zoning law "to help us stop the blighting of our highways by signsboards and shacks."

A law requiring that every automobile owner is "financially responsible for the damage he may inflict on others."

Permit the General State Authority to finance a group of small units at state teachers' colleges and state-aided universities to train teachers for handicapped children.

Authorize the state to work with local communities on problems of older citizens.

Increase authority to the state health department and local health units to prevent air pollution.

System

An amendment to the state constitution permitting school districts to issue bonds with a new and higher ratio of debt to values.

A new system of school administration by including smaller adjacent counties in one service unit.

Authority to secure exploration for oil and natural gas in the offshore waters of Lake Erie.

Require payment of prevailing wages on all public contracts.

Revise the law on preliminary injunctions on labor disputes "so that all parties may be truly guaranteed their day in court."

Equal pay with men to employ women for equal work done.

Pass a second time Korean Veterans war bonus with "an adequate plan for the tax measure which will pay for it."

Pass a second time, an amendment to the state constitution permitting absentee voting for submission to a statewide referendum.

Prohibit wire tapping.

Make clear that "the state's policy forbids discrimination for race, creed or color in admissions to all schools.

Ike Urges Congress To Serve Notice

Assembly To Decide Money For Education

HARRISBURG, Jan. 1 (P)—Gov. Leader left it up to the General Assembly today to decide just how much of the financial burden for education the state should be expected to shoulder.

Leader, in his state of the Commonwealth message, restated his stand that local and federal governments should pay more toward education than they now are doing.

"Our planning calls for the construction of a new interstate highway across the spine of the state from Sharon to Stroudsburg, for the improvement of Route Six across the northern tier as a part of the primary highway system, for an interstate highway from Lake Erie to the West Virginia border, and for the solution of the major highway problems of metropolitan Pittsburgh and Philadelphia."

Eisenhower made this personal plea to 29 Democratic and Republican congressional leaders during a four-hour White House conference on foreign policy problems.

Some congressmen said they understood Eisenhower would go personally before Congress within the next five or six days to urge approval of an emergency resolution.

The White House, however, said this had not yet been decided.

Conferees said no final decision

appeared to have been reached

by Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles on the exact form of the measure they will propose to Congress.

Essence

In essence, however, they said the President and Dulles were proposing that Congress act to give the President authority to use American military forces, if necessary, in support of any country which might be invaded by the Communists.

Returning to educational costs, Leader estimated that more than half of every tax dollar in Pennsylvania goes toward subsidies to school districts, payments on school construction, operation of the teachers colleges, grants to state-aided universities and support of Pennsylvania State University units.

Under this proposed resolution, the United States would act only at the invitation of a country under attack.

A White House statement said merely that Eisenhower had asked Congress to support a resolution designed to deter any Communist armed aggression in the Middle East area.

It said he also requested the lawmakers to "authorize an enlarged program of economic aid" in that area by approving use of money for that purpose from the President's emergency fund.

He noted that during the 1954-55 school year, the state provided $22 million for education as compared with $40 million in 1953-54.

He also urged the Legislature to adopt a new system for school administration drafted by the state Department of Public Instruction and approved by the State Education Council. The plan would group smaller adjacent counties into one unit instead of the present 67 county units.

Christmas Begonia Tops In Winter Months Popularity

A PERSONAL MESSAGE: The Green Thumb wishes each reader of this department much health, happiness and prosperity for the New Year. We appreciate your many fine letters and kind words. May 1957 be good to you all.

Christmas Begonia: The winter-flowering Christmas begonia is undoubtedly the showiest of all the begonias, and one of the most popular. Here are a few tips on caring for the one you received for Christmas.

Give the plant full sun, a cool room and plenty of water. Too high room temperature will cause it to grow tall and spindly. Many of our friends have grown their Christmas begonias on for the second and third year. First, dry it off somewhat, after flowering is finished. Then cut it back almost all the way, and store it in the basement. Never allow the soil to get absolutely dry. During April, you can repot it in a soil mixture of 1/3 sand, 1/3 peat and the rest garden loam. Allow it to grow in full light and the plant will grow nicely, especially in bright sun during summer.

Complaints: Some readers tell us their begonias develop a white fuzzy growth on the stems and leaves. This is mildew, a fungus disease. Apply sulfur or Mildec before the fungus gets too big a start. Badly infected plants are best destroyed, but plants slightly affected can be saved. Flower bud drop is due to "old age," poor light, or possibly too high a temperature. Mealybugs, aphids and red spider are apt to bother the begonia. Spraying with malathion will check this.

New Vegetables:

A new slicing cucumber with the name of "Smoothie" is worth watching for 1957. It has no warts, or spines which means less waste to peel. The skin is so evergreen the color slightly penetrates beneath, barely into the crisp, white flesh. Plant a few seeds of Smoothie. It can be trained to climb a fence, taking up less garden space.

A new bush snap bean known as Greencrop shows great promise and you might want to try it for 1957. Makes vigorous growth (24 inches high), has dark green pods with whitened ends. Pods are stringless, less fibrous, with flesh more brittle than other snap beans. For a new radish, try Champion, with crystal white flesh. Ready to eat in 21 days. It can be used when young, or when mature with no sacrifice in quality. Try a few of the above winners in 1957—and see how you like them.

Question Box

Question Of The Week: R. of Stroudsburg: "Last spring our gardenia plant had a lot of white tiny flies which, when touched would fly off the plant. Also black ones which gave off a gooey sticky substance that would drop and stick to the floor. We put the plant outdoors all summer, brought it back in this fall, and now the same black and white pests are at work. What can be done to kick these pests?"

What your gardenia has is the white fly insect, and aphids. White flies suck up plant juices, causing the leaves to become yellow and ultimately turn brown and die. Secondly, the "worm" form of this pest secretes a "honeydew" liquid which attracts sooty fungus growth, unsightly on plants as well as furniture. The other pest is one of the many colored aphids. "Plant lice" or "green flies," as they are often referred to. Aphids likewise are provided with sucking mouth parts which pierce the plant tissues and suck up the vital juices. They cause the tender growth to become stunted, leaves to curl up. Aphids also secrete a sweetish liquid or honeydew which serves as a medium for the unsightly growth of sooty mold.

Albrightsville Man Expires In Lehighton

ALBRIGHTSVILLE — Robert Getz, 74, of Albrightsville, died at 4:05 a.m. yesterday at the Gladen Huetten Hospital in Lehighton, where he had been a patient for several weeks.

Born in Albrightsville, he was the son of the late William Getz and Christiana George. He was one of the largest potato farmers in Carbon County. He also had farms in Monroe County and was interested in soil conservation.

He was a member of the St. Paul's Lutheran Church and Sunday School in Kresgeville. He taught a Bible class there for several years. He also was a member of Carbon Lodge, F. & A. M.

Survivors:

Survivors are his wife, Cornelia; six sons, LeRoy, Jim Thorpe; Maurice, Kunkletown; Warren, Kresgeville; Lawrence, Kunkletown; Luther, Albrightsville; and Wilbur, at home; three daughters, Mrs. Martin Philip, Allentown; Mrs. Carl Miller, Albrightsville; and Mrs. James Murphy, Kunkletown RD 2; 16 grandchildren; two sisters, Mrs. Cora England Sayre; Mrs. Clara Heinbach, Bethlehem.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Friday at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Kresgeville, with Rev. John Rohrbach officiating. Burial will be in the Gilbert Cemetery.

Friends may call at the Edgar Hamm Funeral Home, Brodheadsville, from 7-9 p.m. Thursday.

Miss Meyer Succumbs

NEWFOUNDLAND — Miss Doran Meyer, 72, of Laurel Pines Road, Cresco, died on Monday at the Minnix Convalescent Home, Delaware Water Gap after an illness of about a year.

Miss Meyer was born in Brooklyn, N.Y., daughter of the late Henry and Marie Koster Meyer. She was a teacher in the Brooklyn schools for many years. She and her sister made their summer home in Cresco until 1946 when they became permanent residents.

G. E. of Washington: "I have eight arborvitae evergreen trees about 15 years old and each seem to be dying. They were perfectly healthy until September when I put sawdust around the base of the trees for a winter mulch. I have always used peat moss but decided to use sawdust and now I regret it. I removed the sawdust. Do you think they'll die? All the inner foliage has turned brown and fallen."

There's nothing wrong with your evergreens, I'm sure. Arborvitae naturally start shedding foliage in early fall, and the first leaves to fall are the inner ones. These turn reddish brown and drop. Evergreens do not lose all their leaves at once. Sawdust has been blamed for many such incidents, but there's absolutely no truth to the idea that sawdust is harmful.

Record Of Events Should Give United States Inspiration To Face 1957 With Confidence

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

A momentous year—perhaps a decisive one in world affairs—fades into history leaving a record of events which should inspire the United States to face 1957 with courage and confidence.

The United States finds in its hands a big share of leadership of the world's forces of morality and justice. What it does with that leadership may affect the course of history for generations.

Challenge and opportunity are evident.

It is unimaginable that this combination will not have a profound effect on American foreign policy. The year 1956 began with the leaders of Soviet communism making frightening strides in their campaign to convince the world—particularly the uncommitted and underdeveloped world—that their intentions were honorable.

The Soviet leaders took a big gamble. They destroyed the legend of Stalin as an infallible leader. At the 20th Congress of the Soviet Communist party, they placed the major blame for all the evils of Soviet communism on the policies of a dead man. They began a drive to persuade the world to believe things would be different.

Campaign

The campaign was progressing in Asia and the Middle East, the two great arenas of conflict between the two major ways of life, the free and the totalitarian.

The Soviet leaders almost had the world believing their story. But, to make the idea stick, they had to surround it with the appearance of relaxation in their won domains. And it was there the experiment ended in wreckage.

The revolt against Moscow domination in Poland and the incredibly gallant bid for freedom by the Hungarian people shocked the world once again into a realization of what Moscow domination can mean.

Even the adventures of Britain and France in the Middle East could not wholly rescue the Soviet Union from the glare of the world spotlight.

The combination of these two events made the role of the United States in world affairs stand out by contrast with dazzling clarity. The prestige of the United States, so low just a few months ago, soared to heights unattainable in the uncommitted countries since the end of World War II.

The United States clearly was now in position to take over determined leadership in attacking the world's big ailments. Its friends and enemies alike will be watching anxiously in 1957 to see how the United States meets the challenge.

New laxative discovery un-locks bowel blocks without gag, bloat or grippe

Constipation is caused by what doctors call a "thrifty" colon that, instead of retaining moisture as it should, does the opposite: robs the colon of so much moisture that its contents become dehydrated, so dry that they block the bowel, so shrunken that they fail to excite or stimulate the urge to purge that propels and expels waste from your body.

Three Youths Admit Six Burglaries In Monroe County

List Grows
To Five Suspects

THREE Monroe County youths yesterday admitted their parts in six area burglaries last Friday morning, while a fourth pleaded innocent to similar charges.

Meanwhile, a fifth suspect pleaded guilty to being an accessory after the fact in the case.

Pleading guilty to burglary charges before Justice of the Peace John C. Foelker were Paul W. Smith, 20, East Stroudsburg, RD 1; Kenneth J. Dickison, 24, and his brother, James, 17, both of Stroudsburg RD 1.

Charles D. Griffin, 21, of 548 Main St., Stroudsburg, entered an innocent plea.

Complaint Dropped

A burglary complaint was dropped against Harry Mader Ludwig, 22, of State St., East Stroudsburg. However, he pleaded guilty to being an accessory—a charge growing from the contention he accepted a case of beer stolen from the Swisher Distributing Co., Tannersville.

The suspects were returned to the Monroe County Jail after the hearings to await further action by the grand jury in February. Bail for Ludwig was set at $1,000, while the court will have to set bail for the others.

Ludwig and James Dickison were apprehended by State Police on Monday. The others were jailed last Saturday.

About $50 in cash was taken from the Edward Odzer junkyard at Stokes Mill. Quantities of cigarettes were taken from Joe Bush's Garage and Hayden's Service Station, both in Bartonsville.

Thieves also broke into Harold Nauman's Service Station in Stroudsburg, RD 2, and the Poco-econo Supply Co., W. Main St., as well as Swisher's Distributing Co.

Salvage Ships More South In Canal

Cairo, Egypt, Jan. 1 (P)—A fleet of U.N. salvage vessels moved southward in the Suez Canal today to tackle one of the biggest jobs in clearing the waterway—removal of the Ferdinand Bridge 51 miles south of Port Said.

At the same time the Egyptians acted to put pressure on Israel to speed up withdrawal of its invasion forces from the Sinai Desert and the Gaza Strip. The Cairo government sent a special emissary to the United Nations headquarters in New York to discuss the question.

The Ferdinand Bridge was one of many obstructions sunk in the canal when Israeli, British and French forces invaded Egypt.

Noted

In early negotiations with U.N. officials, the Egyptians said they would not allow work on clearance of the 103-mile canal to be started until Israeli units had been withdrawn back across Israel's armistice borders.

But after talks with U.N. negotiators here and in New York, Egypt agreed to treat the canal operation as a separate issue. Work on clearing the southern end of the canal started Saturday.

Reliable informants said Egypt was growing increasingly restive over what it terms the "unjustifiably slow" pull-back of Israeli forces. In an effort to get firmer commitments on a speedier withdrawal, Col. Salat Gohar, head of the Egyptian Department of Palestine Affairs, left for New York today to join Egypt's U.N. delegation there.

Highlights From Leader Message

Leader To Seek Zoning Law

ENACTMENT OF a highway zoning law will be sought in the coming Legislature by Gov. George M. Leader, he told the General Assembly yesterday.

The legislation is needed, he said, to help stop the blighting of our highways by signboards and shacks.

"It would seem to me that the people of this country will deeply resent paying billions of dollars for new highways, only to see them desecrate the countryside," the Chief Executive said. "We should not be in the business of creating catastrophic motor audiences for the billboard business."

In Favor

A number of newspapers, including The Daily Record, have come out editorially in favor of keeping the new highways clear of signs and stands that mar the scenic beauty. The movement has the support of many civic groups across the state.

"Two years in the Governor's office, charged with the responsibilities of that great estate, can seemingly become a period in which all sense of time is lost as problem succeeds problem and work piles hard on work.

"But with the mandatory increases previously voted by the Legislature it is obvious that in spite of the sharpness of our budget-pruning knives, the revenue requirements will be higher, not lower than they were for 1955-57.

"Since this is a report, as well as a legislative program, I would like to tell you very frankly that I am not satisfied with our experience in collecting the sales tax.

"In my judgment, the Pennsylvania Turnpike system must be freed of its tolls and made an integral part of the interstate (federal roadway) system.

"None of us can be anxious to repeat a 17 months legislative session. All of us must know that there can be no reward, in conscience or in politics, to be gained from obstruction for obstruction's sake."

"The government of Pennsylvania is an agency of service to its people, for which they pay hundreds of millions of dollars a year in taxes. It is not by right the private preserve, for personal or political exploitation, of any governor, or of any state employee, or any special interest lobbyist, or of any political organization or party, whatsoever."

Car Stolen In Borough

STROUDSBURG Borough Police are investigating the theft of a 1949 sedan which was discovered missing from in front of the home of Herbert Strunk, 226 N. Ninth St., at 2:30 yesterday afternoon.

Borough Police Chief James McConnell noted Strunk as saying the tudor Chevrolet sedan was a grayish blue and bore Pennsylvania registration 8047N.

The vehicle is believed to have been stolen between midnight Monday and yesterday morning.

Automobile Strikes Tree

MISS MARIAN O'HARA, 44, of Swiftwater, escaped injury yesterday when her car went out of control and struck a tree near the intersection of N. Fifth and Oak Streets.

Borough Police said the car went into a skid as it was rounding a curve, and then went across the road, jumped a curb and crashed into the tree on the property of William Torzillo, 310 N. Fifth St. Damage was estimated at $300.

Police said it was Stockholm's most riotous New Year's in decades. They arrested 100 persons, most of them teenagers.

Do-It-Yourself Safety

NEW YORK, Jan. 1 (P)—Each of the city's 16,000 patrolmen soon will be given a do-it-yourself safety kit, so he can make himself luminous on rainy nights. The kit contains a roll of silvery, reflective tape for attachment to sleeves, neckband and cap band.

Five Plead Guilty To Fracas Charge

FOUR YOUTHS and a teen-age girl pleaded guilty yesterday to disorderly conduct charges growing out of a fracas outside Lee's Diner on Park Ave., early New Year's Day in which one of the participants was stabbed with a pair of scissors.

The following were fined $10 and costs by Stroudsburg Chief Burgess Hal H. Harris: Arthur Garris, Jr., Bushkill; Claude Etchier, Mount Bethel, RD 1; Eugene Eickhoff and Charles Gardner, both of Portland, and the unidentified Bethlehem teenager.

Outside

Borough Police said the girl stabbed Etchier in the back as he was fighting with Garris outside the diner about 4:25 a.m. The other two were looking on.

Bethier was examined at General Hospital, but the scissors had merely cut through his clothing and left a superficial wound in the back, police said.

Fishing Tag Delay Likely

HARRISBURG, Jan. 1 (P)—The State Revenue Department reported today there will be a temporary shortage of 1957 fishing licenses, but anglers paying the $2.50 license fee will be able to use their receipt as a permit.

The revenue department said the regular licenses are available to Pennsylvania fishermen in limited numbers at their county treasurers' offices.

However, other of the state's thousands of authorized license issuing agents will not get their supply of buttons and licenses until possibly late next week. The bass season opens Jan. 1 under the new extended season program announced last week.

The department blamed the delay on last summer's steel strike, a paper shortage and late bidding on manufacture of the buttons.

Jointure Schools Open Tomorrow

POCONO PINES — Schools in the Pocono Mountain Jointure will reopen Thursday morning at about 8:30, supervising principal C. Willis Dunlap said last night.

Bus routes will be followed on the regular schedule. Classes will resume on morning schedule as on normal school days.

Landing On Roof

WASHINGTON, Jan. 1 (P)—A landing platform for helicopters may be built on the roof of the proposed new $7-million-dollar State Department Annex building.

The operation began Dec. 11. When it ends, perhaps tomorrow, 9,700 refugees will have been flown to the United States for resettlement.

Area Angle

Part of the fixtures used to install the lamp holders is made in the East Stroudsburg plant of the Line Material Co.

A company spokesman, Richard Altemose, said last night that sales of the new kind of street lights have rocketed upward during recent years as civic officials investigated the advantages of using fluorescent lamps, both from a standpoint of economy and from the clarity of non-glare illumination.

Funeral Notices

MARVIN, Roy P. Sr., of Bethlehem, Sunday, Dec. 30, aged 62 years. Relatives and friends are respectfully invited to attend funeral services Thursday, Jan. 3, at 2:30 p.m., from the Steyer Funeral Home, 500 Linden St., Bethlehem. Interment in the Memorial Park Cemetery, Bethlehem. Viewing Wednesday evening at the funeral home.

McGraw To Merge With Edison

McGRAW ELECTRIC Co.—the parent firm which owns Line Material in East Stroudsburg—this week completes negotiations for merger with The Thomas Edison Co.

Edison Co.—named for America's foremost inventor in the field of electrical equipment—manufactures a dictating machine and other office equipment. It is one of the largest of its kind in the U.S.

Local sources said last night that Max McGraw, top man of McGraw Electric, will serve as president of the new industrial combination. Charles Edison, former governor of New Jersey, will be chairman of the board of directors in the new coalition.

Series

Merger of the two large corporations is the latest in a long series of purchases and industrial combinations executed by McGraw during recent years.

The affiliation of Line Material with McGraw Electric dates from 1949. Among the more recent additions made to the parent firm has been the Speed Queen Washing Machine Co. which was merged with McGraw this year.

A Line Material spokesman said last night that the top level merger is expected to have no effect on the local firm, its personnel or manufacturing output.

Roy Marvin, Bethlehem, Expires

BETHLEHEM—Roy P. Marvin, 62, of 857 Media St., Bethlehem, died Sunday at St. Luke's Hospital in Fountain Hill.

Mr. Marvin was born in Stroudsburg, son of the late Nathan and Susan Marvin.

Family

His survivors are: his wife, Besse S. Wright Marvin; three sons, Roy Jr. and Willard K., both of Bethlehem, and Rodney, Islip, N. J.; a stepson, Samuel Smith, Bethlehem; three stepdaughters, Mrs. Gordon Morris, Bangor; Mrs. Bessie Horn and Mrs. Edith Puleti, both of Bethlehem; two brothers, Floyd Marvin, of Greendale, N. J., and Daniel Marvin, of East Stroudsburg; three sisters, Mrs. O. E. Shinn, Abiquiu, N. M.; Mrs. William Koch, Rutherford, N. J., and Mrs. Clarence Hausman, Allentown; six grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held Thursday at 2:30 p.m. at Steyer's Funeral Home, 500 Linden St., Bethlehem. Internment will be made in Memorial Park Cemetery, Bethlehem. Friends may call tonight at the funeral home. Rev. A. C. McKenzie will officiate.

Half Of President's Winning Margin Was Rolled Up In Five Big States

The official count of the presidential ballot of last November has been completed and shows that almost half of President Eisenhower's winning margin came from five big states.

Remembering that pre-election predictions were that Mr. Eisenhower would win "but with a smaller percentage of the vote" than in 1952, the results in New York, California, Pennsylvania, Illinois and Ohio are astonishing.

Look at the record:

He carried New York in 1952 by 835,000. Last month he increased his advantage to an astonishing 1,589,000.

Pennsylvania gave him 269,000 in 1952 and 603,000 for re-election.

Rush Is On For Awards Leading Up To Presentation Of Filmdom's Oscars

Awards announced by the New York Film Critics may well be regarded as the official start of the motion picture awards season. It's the cue for everybody to get into the act until the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences officially ends the awards season with presentation of the Oscars in March.

Between now and Oscar day, a multitude of social, religious, exhibitor, ethnic, publishing, musical, censorship and other identifiable groups will bestow accolades on films. The number of awards makes one wonder if they aren't created to publicize the organization that presents them rather than to honor meritorious motion picture achievements.

"Around the World in 80 Days," chosen by the New York Film Critics as the "best" picture, is, as most persons who see it will agree, the most enthralling "picture show" in years. But since this Todd-AO production requires installation of special equipment before it can be projected, "80 Days" will be seen in few cities by the time the Oscars are given out.

Exhibitors will equate art with commerce. For them, logically, the best picture will be the one that does the most business.

When the academy awards were instituted in 1928 they had a commendable purpose — to recognize and honor achievement within the industry.

Persons connected with motion picture production were eligible for membership in the academy, with suffrage privileges. In the days of the big studio payrolls it was sometimes assumed that voters cast ballots for reasons other than artistic achievement.

Regardless, Oscar is the most important public relations gimmick devised by motion pictures.

Parents Compromise To Protect Children But Teen-Agers Fight To Restore Liberty

There are always men of good will who believe, despite the facts of life, that a compromise is attainable if those who differ talk things over. The error undoubtedly is that those who adhere to principle without regard to consequences do not wish a compromise but are ambitious only to achieve their ends. President Eisenhower is beyond question a man of good will but when he expects unselfish response from Nehru, Tito, Nasser and Chou En-lai, he is moving into a league which he cannot even believe exists. Chou En-lai's immediate response to Eisenhower's conversations with Nehru displays the cloven hoof of the devil.

Galeatus (pseudonym), writing in the "Free World Review," makes an interesting contrast between Western Society and the Communist State which shows how irreconcilable these two systems are. Correctly he places religion as the first and sharpest difference and although I think he minimizes somewhat the position of Christianity in Western Society, he nevertheless recognizes the trend toward secularism in the West which has not yet been arrested although it is diminishing in some areas. Herewith his contrast:

"Western Society

"Agnostic attitude toward God; (Science is based on the supposition of a material universe). Educationist and sociological views point to a thoroughly secularized state, with religion confined to the private sphere. Tendencies to exclude denominational teaching from schools. 'Scientific' tendencies to do away with the ethical system of Christianity. (Ethics treated in an utilitarianistic manner). — Nietzsche. — Freud. Christianity accused of repressing natural instincts. Introduction of 'progressive education.'

"Communist State

"There is no God.

"There should be no Churches.

"Order maintained by the state only."

It is really over this contrast that both the Polish and Hungarian revolts occurred, although they play no part in the Titoization of the American Communist Party which is moved by other forces. In both Poland and Hungary, Roman Catholicism reassured itself and in both countries a Cardinal of the Roman Catholic Church became the symbol of freedom. The singing of "Stille Nacht, Heilige Nacht," by the Communist radio in Hungary established that even the atheistic Communists had to recognize that a new day had dawned.

In the United States where religious non-conformity is so fashionable that there are hundreds of religious sects, it is difficult to recognize that the struggle against Communism in Europe must be premised on religious organization because the first target for destruction in each Communist country is religious organization.

Khrushchev's complaint that wherever Jews go, they organize synagogues, is altogether realistic from a Communist standpoint.

The Jew is essentially a religious person who traditionally, when 10 of them find themselves anywhere, form a synagogue even in a hotel, and do so under Communist rule. What Khrushchev dares not face is the fact that Catholics and Protestants do the same and therefore the monotheistic society which he and Lenin and Stalin believed they had established, never really came into existence.

By a monolithic society, they mean one in which everybody believes the same things to be true, where the mind and spirit of man are regimented like toy dolls made to dance to Tchaikovsky's "Nutcracker Suite" without life, without animation, but never out of step.

It has not happened because the human mind does not submit for long to that type of direction. Most significantly, all the current uprisings in Europe are started by students, by teenagers who reject fear as they reject a regimented life. And significantly while parents compromise to protect the lives of their children, teenagers court death to restore liberty.

It is diminishing in some areas. The U.N. will announce plans to build a 10-story annex to store resolutions, amendments to resolutions and amendments to resolutions to resolutions, the first seven floors to be used to stockpile compromise resolutions from the Indian delegate. There will be juvenile delinquency probes. A six-year-old boy on a quiz program will win $1,000,000, a steel yacht, a scholarship at Harvard, and a 10-year-supply of Cadillacs. He will then ask, "How can I try for a lollipop?"

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Henry LaBadie
(Stroudsburg Photoshop)

Miss Gruver Is Bride Of Paul LaBadie

Miss Dorothy Jane Gruver, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Gruver of Hope, New Jersey, became the bride of Paul Henry LaBadie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Christian LaBadie, of 362 Lincoln Ave., East Stroudsburg, at 3 o'clock on Sunday afternoon before the candle-lit altar of Grace Evangelical Lutheran Church, East Stroudsburg. The double-ring nuptial was solemnized by Rev. William F. Wunder, Grace Church pastor.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore LaBadie, brother and sister-in-law of the bridegroom, served as best man and matron of honor, respectively. The bride was attired in an ankle-length strapless gown of nylon net over Chantilly lace. Her finger-tip veil was set in a tara of seedpearls and rhinestones. She carried a cascade bouquet of white rose buds. Mrs. Masic LaBadie, matron of honor, wore an ankle-length gown of blue nylon net with matching accessories and carried a Colonial bouquet of yellow rose buds.

The newlyweds will reside temporarily with the bridegroom's parents until their newly furnished apartment is completed. A reception was held at 362 Lincoln Ave., immediately following the wedding.

The bridegroom attended the Stroudsburg schools and is employed at the Stroudsburg Cemetery. The bride was graduated from Belvidere, N. J., High School with the Class of 1955 and is employed at the Tung-Sol Corporation in Washington, N. J.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

I have a feeling that a lot of committee meetings, bridge clubs and programs are going to creep up on a lot of people unaware this month. How can you get into the routine of a first week when it's half over before it starts?

Add to that the fact that the Garden Club board has postponed their meeting and the University Women have advanced theirs and we're going to meet ourselves going and coming.

Well, it's been an exciting holiday. I never feel that it's over until I've reported on the last of the engagements, and there are still quite a few to come, I promise you.

Just the same, it's sort of a relief to have the news beginning to branch out a bit into such mundane things as birthdays and circle meetings. It's like enjoying the taste of bread and milk for supper after an exclusive diet of paté de foie gras and smoked oysters.

Which doesn't mean that living by a clock again is going to come easy. Having turned night into day for such an extended period makes it seem more natural that way. Trying to catch up on your rest by sleeping late few mornings isn't going to solve anything either. Come bed time and you'll find yourself as wide awake as an owl.

Being an owl when all the other night-prowlers have vanished can be a pretty lonely affair.

Style Rules Color Choice In Any Home

COLOR choices in modernizing the exterior of an older home should be governed by the size and shape of the house, the climate and the neighborhood, says Beatrice West, home color stylist.

Here are four typical color schemes suggested by Miss West for popular types of houses. In all four, the color of the asphalt shingles on the roof serves as the key to other colors used on the exterior:

1. Colonial. A roof of pastel blue is complemented by gray-blue siding with white shutters and trim. The entrance door is painted deep blue to complete a "modern color scheme that maintains the traditional feeling," says Miss West.

Tall House

2. Tall, boxy house. Black asphalt shingles on the roof make the house appear lower, while gray siding and charcoal shutters take emphasis away from awkward proportions and large size. The eye is focused on a carnation red door, keeping the visual center of interest low. White on windows and trim adds brightness.

3. Expansion attic. Dark green shingles will make the roof seem lower than it is, yet give the house color. Dark green siding, off-white trim and garage door, and a warm coral on the front entrance door complete the color harmony.

4. Ranch. A russet asphalt roof—a light shade which will make the house appear larger—is ideal, especially if the house is in a rural setting. Good colors with russet would be coral for sidewalls and light gray trim. An accent color of bright blue on the front door, window boxes and garage door make a house stand out effectively if it is set among trees and shrubbery.

Research Leads To Fine Homes

ENGINEERS who design improved building materials deserve much of the credit for the comfort, convenience, and durability of today's homes.

Modern materials often are easier to handle, give better and longer service, and look better than the materials they have superseded. Yet frequently they are less costly and require less time and labor to install.

Good examples are modern floor tile, plastic counter surfacing products, interior paints and some types of wallpaper. All these are decorative, take all kinds of wear, are easy to apply and are easy to clean.

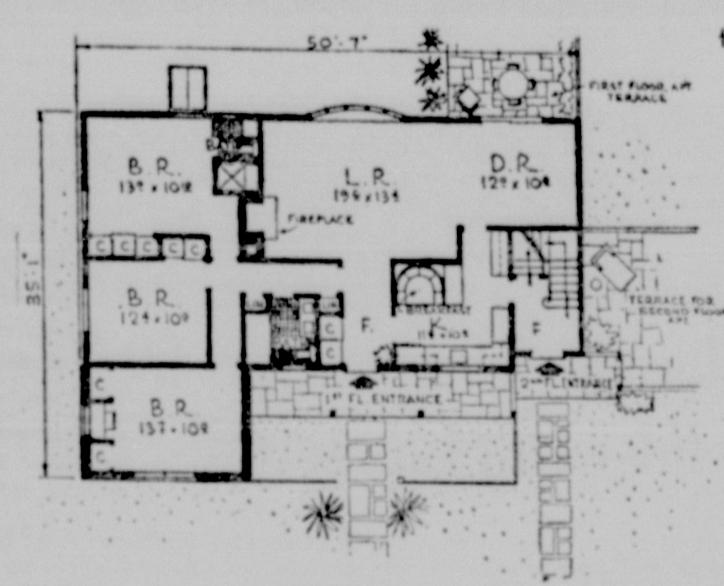

Many newer types of exterior siding have color built in and never need painting. Most of these are fire-resistant and come in sheets which can be applied quickly without special skill.

Greater Speed

Prefabricated materials have made it possible to build homes with greater speed and at less labor cost. Some of these are pre-finished wallboard and wood paneling, window and door units, and various plumbing and electrical assemblies. Even swimming pools are available in complete prefabricated packages, ready for assembly.

Roofing ranks high as an engineered product. Research over the years has made asphalt shingles fire-resistant, and colorful and has given them stouter weathering ability and longer life.

This research has led to a construction technique which makes it possible for asphalt shingles to be applied on roofs with slopes

Design Two-Family House To Appear As Single Home

MODERN ARCHITECTURE at last has turned its talents and skills to the two-family house. The result is a home that looks like a home, and not like a small apartment building.

An example is this compact, nine-room house designed for two-family living by architect Rudolph A. Matern, of Jamaica, N. Y. It is plan No. SH2518.

From the viewpoint of a passerby the house could be a modern, one-family Cape Cod, with its steeply sloping asphalt-shingle roof and its inviting panel entrance door of ponderosa pine, painted to harmonize with the roof color.

This particular style of house lends itself to colorful exterior treatment, since the wide expanse of roof is readily visible from the ground. The home-owner can take advantage of this opportunity in his selection of asphalt shingles in one of the many deep color tones and light pastels available.

Iowa Crushes Beavers, 35-19

Ploen's 48-Yard Dash Fires Hawkeyes To New Evidence Of Big 10'Rule" Over PCC

PASADENA, Calif., Jan. 1 (AP) — Iowa unleashed quarterback Kenny Ploen on a bolting 49-yard touchdown run in the first five minutes of play today and the hammering Hawkeyes proceeded to crush Oregon State in the Rose Bowl.

The score was 35-19 and the jammed crowd of 100,000 and the millions of television viewers can attest that the triumph was another example of Big Ten superiority over the Pacific Coast Conference.

Ray Robinson Underdog' In Fullmer Test

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK, Jan. 1 (P)—Sugar Ray Robinson, a proud but aging champion, risks his world middleweight title against young Gene Fullmer, 25-year-old strongboy from West Jordan, Utah, tomorrow night at Madison Square Garden.

Despite Sugar Ray's brilliant career and his record-breaking feat of winning the same title three times, he is an 8 to 5 underdog in this 15-round match. It will be the fourth straight time the opponent has been favored. Robinson has won the previous three from Rocky Castellani and two from Bob Olson.

The old lure of a canny veteran with boxing skill and punching power against a sturdy, bulk-necked youngster is expected to draw 14,000 fans and $150,000 gate despite the holiday spending binge. The fight starts at 10 p.m. EST.

Sweet For Sugar

With an additional $100,000 dumped into the till from the radio-television rights (ABC), it will be a sweet night for the sugar man who gets $60,000 of the radio-TV cash and 47½ per cent of the net gate. Fullmer gets little more than the exercise and a chance at the title. His manager, Mary Jenson, signed for no cut of the TV fee and only 12½ per cent of the gate. That should result in about $120,000 for Robinson and $16,000 for Fullmer.

New York and Philadelphia will be blacked out of the television coverage (ABC) but the same network's radio broadcast will be heard in those cities and elsewhere across the nation.

Set For Tiger

Robinson, who is 35 if you listen to him or 36 if you look in the record book, has plans for a Feb. 14 rematch at Miami with Ralph (Tiger) Jones, his lone conqueror since he started his comeback in 1955. He also hopes to meet Carmen Basilio, the welter champ, in a middleweight championship bout next month in June. All this depends, of course, on the Fullmer decision.

Texas Christian Coach John Kupiec is assigning the yeoman job of feeding Shook, Adelman, Savidge and Hickey. He also must fire away enough to keep the defense from collapsing on the big men, especially Shook.

Stroudsburg has the potential this year, more since Kupiec took over at Main St. It all depends on the teamwork of four big guys and a little lad who holds the key to success. The Mountaineers know it and Kupiec is well aware of the fact. The fact remains will seven Lehigh Valley loop opponents keep the potential from revealing greatness of will the Mountaineers give out more than the "E" for effort.

Doug Schoonover at East Stroudsburg has a different problem across the river. The new Cavalier mentor must find two players from an inexperienced bunch to go along with high-scoring King Beers, playmaking Harry Miller and junior Dale Metzgar.

Win 8th Renewal Of Typhoon Bowl

PT. BUCKNER, Okinawa, Jan. 1 (P)—An Army all-island football team defeated the defending champion Marine all-stars today, 13-0, in the 8th annual renewal of the Typhoon Bowl.

The Army team had to beat the Air Force all-stars 25-0, in mid-December to earn the shot at the Marines.

The Marines won the 1955 Island title by defeating Army last year.

Will Standardize Making Pro Ranks

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 1 (P)—A man who should know predicts a successful professional football career for Stanford's quarterback John Brodie.

Coach Buck Shaw of the Air Force Academy and chief pilot for the victorious West in Saturday's East-West Shrine benefit game, praised the 192-pound passing star who directed his club to a 7-6 upset victory.

Brodie showed they can go with the best of them. In defeats to Stroudsburg and Fountain Hill, the Cavaliers were in the game to the bitter end. Only the misuses that crop up from green material sent them down the losing trail.

Their other loss—a close one to Phillipsburg High—was unexpected. But it was a good lesson in disguise. It taught the Cavaliers to treat the unexpected with more respect.

Doug Schoonover knows that experience only can be obtained by actual competition. This, he hopes, some of the boys gained in the Cavaliers first five outings.

Schoonover plans a more versatile attack and an offense to get more out of Beers' shooting. Hitherto King has been helping out on the outside and doing most of his point-getting from a long range. Against the Green Wave, Doug plans to shuttle Beers inside and reap some of the rebounds that have been escaping Eastburg hands.

Time will only tell the fortunes of Schoonover and his Cavaliers. If hard work is the answer, Eastburg will do alright. But if mistakes brought on by inexperience crop up then Eastburg will have to depend on "desire".

Look at the teams and schools who have used the word beyond Webster's imagination, notes the Cavaliers could do no wrong by applying it game after game.

Two Churches Unite In Newfoundland

NEWFOUNDLAND — Dr. F. P. Stocker, president of the Eastern District, and Dr. Vernon Couillard, dean of the Theological Seminary at Bethlehem, officiated at formal services uniting the congregations of the German Valley Moravian Church and the Moravian Church of Newfoundland Sunday morning.

The German Valley church closing was approved by its congregation in mid-1956, but the actual closing did not go into effect until Dec. 30. Shifting of population in the isolated community, located between Newfoundland and Canadensis caused the move.

Dr. Frederick G. Fulmer, pastor of the church here, had charge of the worship service at which the union took place.

Holiday services at the Moravian Church have all been carried out under the lighted star which was turned on the first Sunday in Advent and which will continue to burn until January 6.

At pre-Christmas services, the annual Sunday School program, including exercises by the smaller children and a pageant, as well as the Vigils, a candle-lighting service when beeswax candles, decorated by the ladies of the church at a gathering at the parsonage, are lighted from one candle, took place.

Final Service Until April

LAUNA—Final service for the Methodist Church here until the first Sunday in April was held Sunday morning with "The Greatness of Christian Love" as the morning worship theme. Rev. Harry C. Roof led the service.

An invitation for members of the congregation here to join with the South Sterling congregation during the three months, was issued by the latter church through the Rev. Roof.

Good Year In Ink

NEW YORK, Jan. 1 (UPI)—1956 must have been a pretty good year; the Sheaffer Pen Co. sold two percent less red ink than 1955 and four percent more black ink.

'Why I Am An American' Subject Of Main Address

"WHY I AM AN AMERICAN" will be the subject of a talk to be given at a meeting of Lehigh Valley Section, American Institute of Electrical Engineers, in Reading on Jan. 11.

The speaker will be Dr. R. C. Young, professor of moral philosophy and a director of admissions at the University of Georgia. A native of Edinburgh, Scotland, the story of his immigration to this country is related in his talk.

The meeting, which will be the annual Ladies Night, will start with a social hour at 6:30 p.m., followed by a dinner. R. H. Keith, associated with Line Material Co., East Stroudsburg, is manager of the Easton Division of the society.

Union Levels Charge At Post Office

WASHINGTON, Jan. 1 — A postal workers' union has accused the Post Office Department of what it called "bad faith" and "pennypinching practices" in refusing to pay cash overtime for Christmas weekend work.

The union said that instead of worked last Saturday and Sunday are being instructed to take time off.

E. C. Hallbeck, legislative director of the National Federation of Post Office Clerks, said yesterday the union made its protest after receiving heavy complaints from the Pennsylvania-New Jersey area.

Hallbeck said the federation had compiled this partial list of cities from which complaints had been received about the Post Office Department's action:

Pennsylvania—Lancaster, Allentown, Scranton, Butler, Lehighton, Barre, Pittston, Mt. Carmel, McKeever, Bethlehem, York.

Business Leaders Urge Congress To Form Study

WASHINGTON, Jan. 1 — A group of business and financial leaders urged Congress today to set up a special commission to make a broad new study of the nation's money and credit policies.

The recommendation from a 27-member advisory committee to the Senate Banking Committee was made public as Congress members began gathering for the opening of the 85th Congress on Thursday.

The advisory group also presented 195 proposals for overhauling laws regulating national banks and other national financial institutions. Many of these were technical in nature.

Suggestions Of

Some individual Congress members, meanwhile, made public their own suggestions for action by the new Democratic-controlled Congress.

These included:

1. A call from Sen. Byrd (D-Va) for repeal of drastic revision of special tax benefits which have been granted to defense industries. Byrd said rapid writeoff of part or all of the cost of defense facilities has resulted in "a temporary loss in revenue of approximately five billion dollars."

2. An announcement by Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) and Rep. Patman (D-Tex) that they will introduce legislation aimed at staying off a possible increase in GI home loan interest rates by making available up to three billion dollars in federally administered funds to purchase such mortgages at par.

3. A statement by Rep. Hesmer (R-Calif.) that he will ask Congress to impose federal criminal penalties against interstate baby adoption racketeers.

Some of the most important legislative proposals will come from President Eisenhower. He will meet with congressional leaders tomorrow and Tuesday to review administration measures.

Byrd Calls For Overhaul Of Benefits

WASHINGTON, Jan. 1 — Sen. Byrd (D-Va) called today for outright repeal or drastic overhauling of the special tax benefits that have been going to defense industries.

The chairman of the taxwriting Senate Finance Committee said there has been "a temporary loss in revenue of approximately five billion dollars" through use of the speedy writeoff of part or all of the cost of defense facilities.

Byrd based his comments on a study of operations of the "war emergency tax provisions for fast amortization" made by the staff of the Joint Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation.

Chairman

He is chairman of this group, which includes key members of Congress as well as top tax and fiscal officials of the government.

Byrd said he would send the report and his recommendations to President Eisenhower. They are in line with views of Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey.

The defense tax provision was first used during World War II, continued during the Korean War, and then extended in 1954 for the cold war mobilization period.

Under it, certain firms, usually approved by the Office of Defense Mobilization, "charge off against taxable income over five years a large part of the cost of certain investments which are allegedly essential to national defense."

Byrd said the resulting temporary loss of revenue "is a hidden cost for which no appropriation is required by Congress, and its effect makes it more difficult to balance the federal budget or reduce the federal tax burden on taxpayers not receiving the benefits of the provision." He added:

"I am concerned also over the danger to smaller business."

Tax Guide Available To Farmers

FARMERS who are confronted with problems growing out of the new social security phases of their federal income tax returns, as well as with other points in their tax determinations, will get a big assist from the new 1956 edition of the Farmers' Tax Guide now available, free of charge, at district offices of the Internal Revenue Service and from county farm agents.

The 64-page booklet has been brought up to date by the tax collection agency with the aid of revenue agents in farm areas, the federal extension service of the Department of Agriculture, and the State extension services of the federal land grant colleges.

In addition to describing in detail the steps to be taken by farmers in all categories in preparing their 1956 returns, the booklet also provides numerous examples on how to do it. A list of new topics is included, along with a check list of items of farm income and expenses. Particular problems encountered by many farmers are clarified under a series of spot headings.

The booklet also deals with such subjects as farm inventories, depreciation, capital gains and losses, casualty losses and thefts, trades, condemnations and diseased livestock, soil and water conservation, and other matters of farm interest.

The publication contains considerably more material than is included in the information booklet which will accompany 1956 farmers' tax forms, which went into the mails late in December. Farmers who have had special problems during 1956 will be able to plan much of the calculation required by their returns by using the new guide, revenue officials said. It will enable those who file Jan. 15 estimates to do much of their computation in advance of actual form preparation.

Farmers desiring a copy of the guide should visit or write their nearest county farm agent.

Farmers not receiving a copy through their county farm agent should write to the district director of Revenue, Scranton, asking for Publication No. 225, Farmers' Tax Guide.
